Indicted Illinois Governor Holds Conference With Chicago Mayor.

TROOPS READY TO MOBILIZE
Court Gives Small Three Days to Make Up His Mind to Accept Arrest.

By Carl Victor Little
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—The indicted governor of Illinois held a council of war Saturday with Mayor Wm. Hale Thompson, his political sponsor.

Abraham Lenington Small, the state's chief executive charged with misuse of millions of dollars while serving as state treasurer, slipped into the City of Refuge from Springfield to confer on how to resist arrest.

Small's visit to Chicago, his political stronghold, was unannounced. He came surrounded by a vigilant body-guard of three burles.

Small was indicted for conspiracy, embezzlement and operating a confidence game, by a grand jury at Springfield, Ill.

The governor, by order of the court, has three days of grace before a sheriff's posse will attempt to arrest him. On the first day Small flew to the arms of Mayor Thompson and other political advisors.

It was generally speculated that Small and Thompson conferred on the advisability of calling out the state troops, if necessary, to prevent arrest.

Looks Like War
Adjutant General Frank S. Dickson, in full uniform, made a hurried trip to Camp Logan today where the militia is camping.

General Dickson, who has given the historic statehouse of Sangamon county a warlike aspect, has told the governor that "troops can be mobilized in twenty minutes."

"I have made and am making a fight in the interest of the people and against predatory interests, and in following that course I have made powerful enemies," Governor Small said.

"My indictment is the result. My enemies are responsible for the Sangamon county grand jury indictment. They are the head and front of this attempt to ruin me."

IS HELD UP BY BASELESS FEAR

Congress Is Afraid to Delegate Sufficient Authority to Treasurer.

WILL NOT CANCEL DEBT
Mellon's Only Thought Is to Arrange for Time and Terms for Payments.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington. — America has no thought of accepting worthless securities of any kind in payment of the allied debt of ten billions. Great Britain has not asked that the United States accept German bonds in exchange for her debt and America wouldn't agree to it if the request were made.

Unless congress grants the executive branch of the government sufficient authority and broad powers to negotiate with all the foreign governments who owe the United States money, there is a serious danger that negotiations over refunding may be prolonged over many years and the interest payments delayed indefinitely.

These three principles underlie the controversy which has arisen between an element in the senate and the treasury over the effort of Secretary Mellon to get enough power to handle the foreign debts of the United States.

Mr. Mellon has spent practically the entire week answering the questions of senators some of whom seem to give the impression that they fear Mr. Mellon will either cancel the foreign debts or accept securities that aren't worth much. They either don't know Mr. Mellon's ability as a banker and business man or they do not have confidence in him.

Secretary Mellon is the last man in the world to have a worthless security passed across his desk and is the least likely to forgive or remit obligations of such character because all his life he has been trained to negotiate and bargain and his own private success is testimony to what his natural inclination is in any transaction.

President to Decide
But the secretary of the treasury isn't to be empowered to decide the matter alone. The request for authority means that President Harding himself will have to approve any settlement made by the secretary of the treasury before it is actually valid.

In other words those senators who don't know Mr. Mellon need only have faith in their erstwhile colleague, the former senator from Ohio who now sits in the White House. If they hear—as they are bound to hear—something of the nature of the negotiations with foreign governments and they don't like it, they can always express their views privately to Mr. Harding.

What the real reason why the administration want broad power to negotiate the funding of interest and principal on the foreign debt is that it is impractical to have a legislative body conduct a discussion on such confidential matters as are involved. The treasury will ask, for instance, that all cards be laid on the table. Foreign governments will ask that the information be treated as confidential and in the discussions which are to take place the utmost secrecy will be required until an agreement is reached.

What the United States may be able to get from one government or another is not able to obtain from another if all negotiations are public and if all the loans have to be treated as separate propositions.

Some suggestion has been made that the treasury agreements be ratified by the senate, but if that is done the foreign governments will not consider them binding and will be inclined to wait until the attitude of the senate is known before agreeing finally to make their best proposition. In other words if they know they must give the treasury their best terms, the treasury will not be asked to cancel or remit all or part of the allied debt. He merely wants authority to arrange for the payment of the interest and principal due.

PASSENGER TRAIN IS HELD UP BY BANDITS

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Louis, Mo.—A vivid description of the holdup of Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 205 near Vandale, Ark., was given Saturday by members of the crew on arrival here.

The train, running from Memphis to St. Louis, was stopped shortly after midnight by a huge pile of ties on the tracks, topped with a lantern covered with a red handkerchief.

As the engine wheels came to a sudden stop with the grinding of the brakes, quickly applied, two bandits covered the engine crew.

A. F. Jacobs Meyer, train auditor, telling the story of the holdup, continued: "Two other bandits uncoupled the mail and express cars. The engineer, with a revolver sticking in his ribs, was forced to take the two cars about 300 yards down the track."

"The men jotted the registered sacks and forced the express messenger to open the safe. The booty was carried to a waiting auto.

"The robbers wore overalls and their faces were blackened." Posses were sent out immediately by Sheriff Cooper of Cross county, Arkansas and scoured the country for the robbers but no trace of them had been found today.

Passengers aboard the train were not molested.

ITALIAN CABINET IS IN JEOPARDY

By United Press Leased Wire
Rome. — The Fascist-Communist horrors in Sarzana Saturday threatened overthrow of the present Italian cabinet.

As result of the state's position the socialist groups have decided to vote against the cabinet's program. This leaves as its only faithful supporters the popular and reformist group, which probably will not give it the majority necessary to existence, it was believed.

Reports today from the fight area stated 20 had been killed and at least thirty wounded. Dispatches from Sarzana described the murders of wounded Fascists by the hospital orderlies carrying surgeon's knives. The dispatches stated they knifed their victims as they lay painfully wounded on the ground where they had fallen in fighting.

CRIME TO HAVE A PICTURE OF FIGHT

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Every one of the thousands of spectators who snapped a picture of Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier in action and brought them across the New Jersey line into New York is liable to a fine of $1,000 and two years in prison, United States District Attorney Hayward said here Saturday.

Newspapers and picture agencies that brought pictures across the line are also liable.

U. S. OPPOSES EXTRA MEETING ON WAR HOLIDAY

Britain Informed That America Sees No Need for Delaying Conference.

JAPS MUST HAVE MORE ROOM
Australian Premier Believes Far Eastern Conference Should Be Arranged.

BULLETIN.
Washington, D. C.—The United States has informed the British government that it does not believe there should be any postponement of the disarmament and Pacific conferences in Washington or that there should be any preliminary conference on the Pacific affairs in London, it was stated on high authority Saturday.

London.—A conference to thrash out the Pacific problems should be arranged immediately, Premier W. M. Hughes of Australia said in an interview here Saturday. He urged that the meeting be held in London within three weeks.

Japan's need of room for expansion must be recognized fully at this conference to assure its success, he declared.

"There can be no disarmament until the need for armaments no longer exists," Hughes said. "From this, it follows that until the vital problems of the Pacific have been settled by agreement between the three great naval powers, disarmament or limitation of armament is impossible."

"Therefore," he reasoned, "it is vital that a conference be held to deal with these problems as soon as possible."

"London is the most convenient place and I believe the conference should be held here within three weeks."

"I believe London is the best place for the Pacific conference, although I believe the disarmament conference would be more convenient in Washington, perhaps."

"We must go into the conference prepared to give way as far as we can consistently with our own vital interests."

"We are confronted with certain basic facts. Among others, one may be stated. Japan needs room for expansion. Inexorable circumstances compel expansion. Therefore we must consider how far we can help Japan without sacrificing our own interests. That is one of the questions for the conference to settle. If it is humanly possible it must be settled."

"Until we clear away the outstanding causes of international disputes, I repeat, there is no arrangement for disarmament possible."

Bandit's Trail Lost At Tracks

Police Believe Holdup Man Escaped on Train on Ashland Division.

BANDIT SHOWS EXPERIENCE
Authorities Now Are Confident Raid Was Conducted by "Professional."

BULLETIN.
St. Paul, Minn.—Five unmasked bandits robbed the Farmers' State bank of Anand, Minn., of $7,000 and escaped in an automobile. Anand is near Taylor's Falls.

Two men entered the bank about 9:30 and engaged the president, B. O. Monquist in conversation. A moment later two other men entered and asked the cashier for some change. The cashier, A. H. Lindquist, lowered his head and when he looked up he faced two revolvers.

The first two ordered Monquist to hold up his hands and a fifth member of the gang stepped to the door with a pistol in his hand.

The men swept all the cash in sight into a bag and fled to a waiting automobile. They drove rapidly off toward Sunrise, Minn. The machine bore a Wisconsin license.

Police officers, disappointed at losing the trail of the whirling bandit who robbed the Outagamie County State bank of about $9,000 Thursday noon, are convinced the robbery was the work of a professional. The carefully planned escape and the elaborate steps taken to throw pursuers off the trail indicate the experience of the bandit.

Loss of the hat in the ravine near Jones park apparently was part of the carefully thought out scheme. While it provided a scent for the bloodhound imported from Mauston, yet it did not give the pursuers much of an indication of the way the man left town. It is believed, however, that he stole a ride on a passenger train from the depot in the Fourth ward where the dog lost the trail.

The big dog was taken to several places along the Ashland division of the Northwestern line in an attempt to pick up the trail but the efforts were fruitless and the dog has been returned to Mauston.

"It was the work of an outsider," George T. Prim, chief of police, said Saturday morning. "A man of the age described by persons who saw him must be an old-timer. The fact that he carried on the holdup alone also indicates age and experience. I believe he bought the hat here as a camouflage. His purpose in throwing it away was to make us believe it was a local job. The ravine was a very convenient place to make the change."

Rumor of Capture
A report was received here Friday that the bandit had been captured at Chilton but this was denied. It is believed the man has gone north, probably to St. Paul.

Police Friday carried the hunt to nearby towns from which intangible clues had been received but the search thus far has led into a blind alley.

BRITISH PEACE PROPOSAL FOUGHT BY IRISH LEADERS

Sinn Feiners Will Refuse to Accept Lloyd George's Home Rule Plan.

By United Press Leased Wire
Dublin.—Open opposition to acceptance of Premier Lloyd George's Irish peace offer was expressed by Sinn Fein leaders here Saturday.

It was predicted that barring new obstacles "President" DeValera would return to London within a fortnight—not to accept the plan in its present form.

The general sentiment of Sinn Fein leaders is that a resumption of hostilities is probable to a potential dominion home rule which does not include the right to secede from the empire, to raise a separate army and which lacks any of the free features which comprise the constitutions of other dominions.

There appeared, however, one vital reason for hope. A sober sincerity holds both factions against reopening the old war wound, which everyone here believed would be a merciless fight to death.

There seems a sentiment here in Dublin that the Irish republican army has won its age old war.

BUSINESS SLUMP IS OVER, BANKERS SAY

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee, Wis.—The worst of the business depression is over and business is gradually getting back to normal, according to members of the board of governors of the Investment Bankers' association of America in session here.

Prominent bankers from every section of the country are attending the meeting and all indorse the view taken by Frederick R. Fenton of Fenton, Davis and Boyle, Chicago, "that the turn in the tide has come."

BATHHOUSE KEEPER HELD FOR RUINING TWO GIRLS

By United Press Leased Wire
Fond du Lac, Wis.—Bath House John Staphopolis, proprietor of the bathing house concession at Lake-side park was today bound over to circuit court on charges of contributing to the delinquency of two girls after preliminary hearing before Judge H. M. Pellenz in municipal court. He was released on $500 bond.

One of the girls taken in a raid on Staphopolis' quarters at the bathing pavilion is serving a three months term in county jail and another, aged 17, has been committed to the House of the Good Shepherd in Milwaukee.

TWO FATAL ACCIDENTS OCCUR NEAR BELOIT

By United Press Leased Wire
Beloit, Wis.—Two fatalities from accidents were reported here Saturday.

Carlo Ricetti, 30, died from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by John McArthur, Friday.

Robert Roth, farmer, living near Sharon, Wis., is dead from injuries received when he sprang from a ladder at his barn upon the prongs of a pitchfork which penetrated his abdomen.

BERGDOLL'S BROTHER NEVER HEARD OF BRIBE

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Testimony that his mother, Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, at no time had told him of paying a $5,000 bribe to Major Bruce Campbell to "fix higher ups" and obtain the release of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, was given today to the house Bergdoll committee Saturday by Charles A. Braun, of Philadelphia.

GOVERNOR WANTS U. S. TO PAY FIRE VICTIM CLAIMS

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn.—Gov. Press Saturday asked federal officials to see that claims due residents of the Cloquet district as a result of the 1918 forest fires, are paid promptly.

"The supreme court has held the government is liable for damages incurred as a result of fires started by sparks from railroad trains then under federal control. One claim of $7,400 was cited in case. There are 277 similar cases in the Cloquet district."

The governor wrote the former director of railroads and Senator Frank Kellogg, urging that machinery be established at once to pay the claims.

MOB TAKES WHITE MAN FROM JAIL AND HANGS HIM

By United Press Leased Wire
Huntsburg, Miss.—Casey Jones, a white man, recently convicted and sentenced for the murder of Mrs. J. Mosley was removed from the county jail here Saturday and hanged to a tree in the court yard by a mob.

Jones was to have been executed July 18. An appeal to the supreme court stayed the execution.

HOLD POLICE CHIEF DID NOT SUPPRESS RIOTING

OSHKOSH GETS NEXT LABOR CONVENTION

By United Press Leased Wire
Mankatoe.—After conditionally endorsing the new party idea, the Wisconsin Federation of Labor Friday elected officers and adjourned to meet at Oshkosh in 1922. Henry Ohl, Jr., was reelected general organizer and J. J. Hendley, secretary treasurer.

The new political party's organization depends upon the decision of a referendum to be taken of the members. If the idea is generally endorsed by members, plans for launching the new party movement will be put into action.

THREE MEN PARDONED IF THEY WILL AD FAMILIES

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison, Wis.—Gov. John J. Blaine Saturday granted several conditional pardons. The sentence of Grant Haven, convicted in Crawford county of second degree murder, was commuted from 14 to 10 years.

Reuben Varney, of Columbia county, was conditionally pardoned if he will support his aged parents. He is serving sentence in the Green Bay reformatory for larceny.

Conrad Grueniger of Lincoln county, convicted of forgery and sentenced to 12 years, was granted a conditional pardon providing he will support his aged mother at Oshkosh.

Frank Baumer, serving a five year sentence at Waupun, was granted a pardon if he will support his family.

GOVERNMENT SEIZES BIG OCEAN LINERS

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—While United States shipping board officials today prepared to seize more vessels operated by the United States Mail Steamship company, officials of the firm charged that foreign influences were behind the government action against it.

Led by Elmer Schlessinger, general counsel of the shipping board, officials took over the George Washington, America, Susquehanna, Westinghouse and Agamemnon. Three others are to be taken by the board which charges that payments due the board have not been made.

E. A. Quarles, assistant to the president of the steamship company, stated the action would be fought.

MAY USE U. S. SHIPS FOR FLOATING BARS ON OCEAN

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Extensive plans for dotting the Atlantic coast with floating bars reached officials of the United States shipping board today.

A syndicate of liquor vendors is considering the purchase of wooden vessels offered for sale by the shipping board, the report stated, and if they are successful the ships will be loaded with liquor and anchored outside the three mile limit. These plans call for a chain of floating saloons reaching from Bath, Maine, to Tampa, Florida.

CONGRESS WELL STARTED ON TAX AND TARIFF BILLS

Washington.—Congress Saturday was fairly started upon the business for which President Harding summoned it into special session—tax and taxation.

The house ways and means committee is at work on tax revision and the senate finance committee is about to begin tariff hearings.

The end for both pieces of legislation is not long away, but within a few days congressional leaders expect to be able to give the country a pretty good idea of what it may expect with respect to these two important matters.

In this connection Senator Penrose, chairman of the finance committee Saturday issued a note of warning to the business men of the country and an appeal to their good sense.

Penrose does not look with favor on the proposal that the tax and tariff bills be combined he indicated. He says he is going to get the tariff bill out of committee before the tax bill gets through the house. Some of his colleagues on the committee don't subscribe to that. Led by Senator Watson of Indiana, they are going to try to get the tax bill considered ahead of the tariff.

SOUTH DAKOTA SENATOR DEAD AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Aberdeen, S. D.—Senator Isaac Lincoln, 58, passed away at his home here this noon after an illness of nearly a year. He submitted an operation in St. Paul a month ago but failed to regain strength and has been confined to his bed since that time.

Senator Lincoln came to Aberdeen in 1888. He was a member of the Masonic order. He is survived by his wife and a stepson, both of this city.

3 MORE "BUBBLERS" NEEDED IN APPLETON

Council Asked to Provide Drinking Fountains and New Water Intake.

Thirsty citizens of Appleton and strangers within the city's gates may soon have the opportunity of quenching their thirst at more than one fountain. The result of a recommendation made by the city water department to the city council, the water commission has asked the council to act favorably on the matter and appropriate necessary funds.

Citizens have asked that more public drinking fountains be installed as the one near the city hall is entirely inadequate and inaccessible to many people. It is suggested that at least three others be installed, one in the vicinity of College-ave. and State-st., one on College-ave. near Memorial Presbyterian church, and one near the postoffice.

The council was also asked to appropriate $25,000 to provide a new intake for the city pumping station. The new intake would extend into the south channel of the river where the water flows more swiftly and is purer than that obtained through the present intake which extends only a short distance into the river and receives its supply in an eddy where the water is sluggish and where consequently its water contains more sediment.

WANT UNCLE'S WILL RULED OUT OF COURT

Nieces and Nephews of Little Chute Man in Contest Over $5,000 Estate.

In an attempt to have the will of the late Henry Vanderhey of Little Chute, set aside, 15 children of a deceased brother and sisters appeared in probate court Thursday in contest action against two aunts, sisters of the deceased, to whom the property was willed. After an all day hearing Judge John Bottensack took his decision under advisement.

Henry Vanderhey died June 3, this year, and his will gave his property, valued at about $5,000, to his two sisters, Mrs. Henry Janssen and Mrs. William Verbeek of Little Chute. The children of four other brothers and sisters who had died previously were not mentioned.

Alleging that inasmuch as the deceased was 84 years old, was hard of hearing and was unable to either read or write in English, the children charge Mr. and Mrs. Janssen with using undue influence on the deceased at the time the will was executed. During the last six months of his life, the deceased made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Janssen.

WANT 8 TEACHERS AT STATE FAIR IN 1921

Eight Outagamie-co. teachers and County Superintendent Florence Jenkins are given the opportunity to attend the state fair at Milwaukee from August 29 to Sept. 3. Teachers who wish to be among the eight are asked to apply at once to the county superintendent.

The only cost to each individual will be $7 which will pay for entrance to the fair grounds, board, lodging, and admission to the whole fair. Every county in the state is expected to have a representation of teachers present. A teachers' camp is maintained to house the teachers who attend.

A letter from Miss Nellie Jones, leader in the home economics extension division, states:

"I was at the fair ground yesterday and today and we are going to be very comfortable this year, and I am sure every teacher will have not only a profitable time but a very pleasant one when she spends the week at the state fair in the teachers' camp. I shall send a letter to each teacher as soon as I receive their names. This letter will be your entrance card at the gate and will also tell you what things to bring for your comfort during the week."

KAUKAUNA CAR COLLIDES WITH REFORMATORY AUTO

A new Buick touring car owned and driven by Alexander Stoyanov, Kaukauna, was damaged Wednesday evening in a collision at the entrance to Green Bay reformatory with a Ford car driven by one of the prison employees. The crash was violent but occupants of both cars escaped injury.

It is said that the reformatory car came out of the grounds suddenly. Mr. Stoyanov was unable to stop and his machine rammed itself into the side of the Ford. The engine of the Stoyanov car was badly disabled and the front of the machine wrecked. The reformatory machine also was damaged.

ARTILLERY BANDSMEN GO TO CAMP MONDAY

Thirty-five members of Ono-Fundred Twenty-first Artillery band will leave at 7:45 Monday morning for Camp Douglas for the annual encampment of the Wisconsin National guard. Percy Fullinwider, director, Lieut. Eric Lindberg, commander, and Mike Steinhauser, drum major, will accompany the musicians. They will return home July 30, and expect to give another public concert shortly afterward.

CITY WARNED NOT TO MOVE CAR TRACK

Neenah and Street Railway Company Quarreling Over Street Pavement.

Neenah, Wis.—The city of Neenah Saturday morning received a notice from the Eastern Wisconsin Railway Co. not to touch or molest the tracks of the railway company on Wisconsin-ave., at the place where that street is being paved. The city wishes to move the tracks which are now on the left side of the street to the center. The railway company suggested that the city pay for the pavement between the rails and 1 foot outside on each side and they, the railway company, to pay for the additional concrete below the ties and the expense of moving the tracks to the center of the street—the city to pay its portion of the expense and the company to reimburse the city over a period of five years—according to the old franchise granted to the railway company by the city of Neenah. The company, in case of a street being paved, is to pay for the concrete below the ties and 1 foot on each side. The city of Neenah refused the offer of the railroad company and now has received a notice from the company not to move the

Some Cases Discovered Requiring Immediate Treatment at Sanatoriums.

Treatment for tuberculosis and other physical defects was recommended for a number of persons at the free chest clinic which closed recently at Oneida. Two hundred sixty took the examinations, including many whites as well as Indians. People of that locality made a holiday of the affair and came in family groups, bringing their lunches and remaining all day.

Seven of the persons examined were found to be in need of immediate treatment for tuberculosis at a sanatorium. Cases of trachoma also were revealed and treatment recommended. About one-third of the children were

First Circus, Here Was Mud Daubed Affair

While viewing the circus bill boards on Superior-st. Friday C. W. Mory recalled an early boyhood disappointment that he has never forgotten. It was in the early days of Appleton when circuses traveled overland from one city to another. Flaming posters on the billboards had announced for weeks the coming of "Yankee" Robinson's greatest show on earth, the first circus that had ever visited Appleton, and the youngsters became so enthused over the magnificence of the affair as it appeared to them on paper that they could hardly restrain themselves until the date arrived.

Circus day dawned with a down-pour of rain and it continued to rain the greater part of the forenoon. The circus exhibited at Green Bay the day previous and did not reach Appleton until shortly after noon. The wagons and horses were covered with mud and the horses were so fatigued they could hardly reach their destinations. Men were sleeping everywhere on the wagons and it was the most bedraggled outfit Mr. Mory had ever seen before or since. All the glitter and splendor he had pictured vanished instantly.

church; Miss Ross of Green Bay Red Cross, and Mrs. James Wood, Miss Winifred Wood and Miss J. H. Melhinsch Appleton.

Visiting physicians were Dr. A. P. Hale, Dr. W. L. Boyden, Seymour, Dr. William A. Shepherd, Seymour. Some of the doctors brought tubercular patients to the clinic so they could have the benefit of expert advice.

WAGE CUT COMES AT SAME TIME AS GARDEN FAILURE

Section hands and flagnen who have made a practice of planting gardens along the right of way of their employers, raising enough potatoes and other vegetables to keep them supplied all winter, will have no return for their work this year because of the drought. Their gardens looked very promising until the extreme hot weather of June when growth was retarded by the lack of rain. It was not long before the plants began to wither and now scarcely anything is left of them. The failure of their garden crop was accompanied on July 1 by a reduction in wages.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. LaRowe of New York, former Appleton residents, called on friends here Friday. They made the trip from Columbus, Wis. where they were visiting Mrs. LaRowe's parents. Mr. LaRowe said business in New York is showing a marked improvement.

SHOW HANDIWORK OF BIBLE PUPILS

A Tesla electric spark made by Lloyd Root having 10,000 volts or more and giving a spark one-half inch long and a brush discharge of one to two feet, attracted a great deal of attention at the exhibit of the Vacation Bible school Friday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Another feature was a miniature motor boat which worked by means of rubber bands.

A large display of bird houses, book racks and tooth brushes holders gave evidence that the pupils had been busy during their hand work periods. The little girls exhibited sewing bags, aprons, small dresses, raffia baskets and mats. Among the most attractive articles were several flower baskets made from an especially designed paper in different shades.

Enough doll furniture has been made by the various girls classes during the term to completely furnish a number of doll houses. Clever little desks were made out of match boxes while shoe boxes made the most inviting vehicles. Tapestry furniture was made with the tapestry wall paper.

The smallest of the pupils exhibited scrap books and health books, sewing cards and paper woven novelties.

The Misses Alma and Jeanette Brill and Louis Brill have returned from Bear Lake where they have been camping for the last two weeks.

It is estimated that one pound of wool can produce a yard of cloth.

FORMER APPLETON MAN AT ELK MEETING IN WEST

Appleton was represented indirectly at the recent national Elk convention in Los Angeles, Calif., by San Ryan, former owner and editor of the Appleton Crescent. Mr. Ryan has written to Daniel P. Steinberg, exalted ruler of the local lodge, telling him about the magnificence of the convention. He is sending the banner he carried in the parade as a souvenir of the event.

Mr. Ryan says a lodge is to be instituted in Monrovia, Calif., where he resides and, much as he regrets the move, he probably will transfer his membership there. He has been a member of the Appleton lodge for 25 years.

THE TARIFF BILL

The tariff bill has passed the house in a form greatly differing from that in which it was reported out by the ways and means committee. Nearly 200 amendments, most of which were recommended by the committee itself, were adopted before passage. In the final stages finished lumber, hides, leather, shoes, oil and cotton were put back on the free list, while the dye embargo was completely eliminated. Mr. Fordney scarcely recognized his bill after it was amended to the satisfaction of a majority of the house, but his troubles are not yet over. The measure is destined to travel a hard and rocky road in the senate, where opposition to many of its provisions is pronounced among Republicans as well as Democrats.

One of the most questionable features of the Fordney bill is the American valuation provision. This plan substitutes for valuation in the country of export a system of levying ad valorem duties blindly, not on the price paid by the importer, but on the approximate guess of the appraiser as to the worth of the article in the United States, measured by the "comparable and competitive" wholesale price in this country on the date of exportation. Note the license and looseness of the system of valuation as it is fixed by the following clause:

Appraising officers may take into consideration, among other matters, the selling price or cost of production of comparable products of the United States and of articles made therefrom or from like imported materials, not sold in usual wholesale quantities or not sold or freely offered for sale to all purchasers in the ordinary course of trade, or not sold at all, and the selling price in the United States of comparable imports, or the selling price or market value or cost of production of the imported merchandise in the foreign country, and may exclude or include all or any cost, charges and expenses, including duties, and also profits and commission, if any, keeping always in mind the legislative intention that duties ad valorem shall be assessed upon the fair market value of the imported merchandise in the United States.

This means that no person importing merchandise into the United States can know what the goods cost him until they have passed through the custom house. It means that the assessor can assess what duties he pleases, that his decision may be guesswork, prejudice or whim, as the state of his constitution may at the time determine. It means that all imported goods on hand which have not been sold will rise in price. It is an illogical and grossly unscientific method of levying duties.

The senate should take great care in placing its stamp of approval upon this bill. It should not overlook the fact that tariff legislation has caused the Grand Old Party more trouble than any other of its sins of commission or omission. It was the iniquitous Payne-Aldrich act which did more than any other one thing to bring disaster to the party in 1912 and to keep it out of power for eight years. McKinley's warnings did no good. Neither did Roosevelt's, nor Carnegie's, nor hosts of others who realized the extent to which privilege had entrenched itself behind tariff walls under the plea of protecting American industry and nursing to vigor its industrial infants.

It will be easy to make another mistake like that. It will be particularly easy under the guidance of Mr. Fordney. That the country is in no good mood for the excessive protection this bill creates is indicated by the widespread and emphatic protests against its passage. Republican newspapers, particularly those in Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia, have been strong in their denunciation of the measure and in their demands for its radical modification.

Whatever the form of the act when passed and signed by the president, it is results which will count. If they are what excessive duties will most certainly visit upon the country, that is, higher prices, loss of exports and retaliatory tariffs abroad, the people will hold the administration severely to account. No surer road to a reversal at the polls in 1924 could be traveled than that of an unpopular tariff act.

CONSCRIPTS OF PEACE

There are two European countries that have compulsory labor service. One is bolshevik Russia; the other is Bulgaria, the smallest of the defeated central powers. But in one the conscripted workers are sullen and depressed and in the other they are buoyant and hopeful.

When Bulgaria collapsed she was thoroughly beaten and pretty completely wrecked. To meet peace treaty burdens and rebuild the country the party in power turned to the machinery of militarism and recruited a new army. But it was an army of peace. Eight hundred thousand young men and women were drafted under a national compulsory service law as workers for the state for a definite period. They were given a term in trade schools and then set at unpaid service on public works ranging from road building to canning fruit. They supplied man and woman power in mines and factories, forests and gardens.

The odd thing about it is that these young people have worked for the state well and cheerfully. They are transforming Bulgaria physically and spiritually and giving it a new pride and new national spirit. In Russia, on the other hand, conditions under the compulsory labor service ordered by the autocrats Lenin and Trotsky are declared to be growing worse and more unbearable. What is it that accounts for this variance in results? Is it a difference in national temperament or is it because the Bulgarians see that they are building up their country while the Russians know at heart that they are only building up a merciless minority government?

SWEET BILL PASSES SENATE

The senate has finally passed the Sweet bill which proposes to do away with red tape and numerous bureaus dealing with soldiers' relief and consolidate these activities under one department, with immediate responsibility for action. It is also designed to improve hospital accommodations, which have been notoriously inadequate. Investigations incident to this legislation have shown hospitals to be insanitary and unwholesome. Special committee's report submitted to the senate finds that all hospitalization arrangements were "laden with red tape and lumbering methodicity. Especially are we convinced that there are not sufficient facilities for attending to the two special classes of disease resulting from this war, neuro-psychiatric and pulmonary tuberculosis."

The Sweet bill affords the means and machinery for correcting evils of this character, while another provision liberalizes the compensation awards so as to relieve any former soldier suffering from ailments for which his war service was responsible. It also places the burden of proof upon the government in establishing the origin of the disease. Altogether the bill is an enlightened measure of relief, and if not subjected to too many alterations in conference will accomplish the purposes sought.

Contrary to the usual policy of the government, its treatment of disabled soldiers was surrounded with excessive precautions against imposters and extravagance. Instead of the latitude for excesses which too often exist, relief was surrounded with so much red tape and politics that it never got out of the meshes of either. As a result we have had one of the most scandalous exhibitions of governmental neglect ever witnessed. There has been nothing but inefficiency, inadequacy and indifference in the whole program of relief. An outraged and aroused public conscience finally penetrated the walls of congress and the Sweet bill is the result. Had the public not set its foot down and demanded action the situation would not have been remedied, at least not with anything like the prompt attention given this matter.

SMOKE AS A LIGHTNING ROD.

It would seem that a building 99,000 feet above the sea level should be protected by lightning rods, but the astronomical observatory at Mount Etna has not, and does not, need such protection. The observatory is near the summit of the volcano, and the stream of vapor constantly rising from the crater acts as a natural conductor, draining the electricity out of the clouds, so that lightning is seldom seen there.

PRESERVING MILK.

Is milk condensed? Milk is condensed by the evaporation of the water it contains, after it has been sterilized. Sugar is added to some brands, and is not added to others, and the unsweetened is known as "evaporated" milk. To distinguish it from the sweetened, copper tanks holding 1,000 gallons or more are used in the sterilization of the milk, and the water is evaporated in huge vacuum pans.

BANKS IN RUSSIA AGAIN.

Reval—Private banks again will be allowed to operate in soviet Russia, according to the Krasnaya Gazeta, bolshevik organ. The red government also will allow private citizens to hold money and bonds. Funds seized by the government will be restored.

TALKS TO SPECIAL CLASSES—A TALK TO TEACHERS.

Every man, I imagine, has in mind certain types or examples when he thinks of woman. His mother, his sister, his sweetheart, his wife, his teacher—something like a composite of all these is the ideal woman. Fortunate for him and for the world if his ideal is a beautiful one.

One of the serious faults with many teachers right now is their lack of knowledge from the eyebrows down. For this, of course, the teachers themselves are not to blame so much as the educators who trained the teachers. Being ignorant of all that concerns the welfare of the pupil below the brow, how can a teacher hope to understand boys and girls and win their confidence and love, save by chance? And what chance has any teacher, may I ask, who is compelled by an unwise curriculum to require a pupil to study two or three hours a day over and above the regular school hours?

It may be true that teachers have little or nothing to say about the arrangement of a curriculum or the methods of teaching in a given school, but it is nevertheless the consensus of opinion of the teachers in a given school or community that finally determines whether "homework" shall be the bane of the pupil's school life. Too many good high schools have found "homework" entirely unnecessary, for any teacher to insist that it can't be avoided. There is no better gauge of a school's efficiency than the very amount of "homework" expected of pupils who spend five hours daily in school—the more "homework" the lower the general standing of the school. What I mean is that a given school, rightly conducted, will accomplish much better work without requiring home study or night study than it can accomplish with any amount of such study outside of school hours. When "homework" is the order of the day, you may be sure the education of the pupil from the eyebrows down is to all purposes nil—and every teacher knows the world is cursed today with top-heavy, unbalanced, badly educated highbrows.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Kindly state where appendicitis forms. Of late I am getting pains on my right side, that is between my right side and my stomach. Is this the sign of appendicitis? I am subject to constipation, but keep taking Epsom salts. (Long Island.)

Answer—Appendicitis forms on the right side and generally advances toward the center—that is, the pain does. It is not unlikely that your harsh treatment of the constipation has something to do with your trouble.

Potomac Poisoning. I have heard that buttermilk and milk minutes will destroy any potomac poison in meat or vegetables. Please let me know if this is correct. (L. M.)

Answer—No. Potomac poison is not destroyed by cooking.

Aromatic Spirits of Ammonia. Is the daily use of aromatic spirits of ammonia harmful? Is it habit forming? Will you please publish a short paragraph on this drug? (E. S.)

Answer—If you mean the internal use of the drug, it is harmful and may be habit forming by reason of the alcohol in it.

Great Scott, No. We have no mother, and ask your advice as to whether a girl 12 years old should start wearing a corset waist. She has worn skeleton supporters up to the present, and as she is beginning to develop, should I change to something more supporting? (Miss L. R. A.)

Answer—No. You have the wrong idea. A girl or woman requires no "support" to maintain a good figure and gracefulness, provided she takes a reasonable amount of exercise.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Saturday, July 25, 1896.

Stock day brought many farmers to town. The Rev. Selby Vance was to preach at the Congregational church the following morning in the absence of the pastor.

Viva Sherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sherry, entertained a group of her little friends the day previous at a 5 o'clock tea.

Fifteen Appleton ladies drove to Riverside park in an open bus and enjoyed a picnic dinner in the pavilion.

Neenah News said after all the money that had been spent in improving the upper Fox river, navigation was reported difficult owing to weeds, not enough boats going through to keep the channel clear.

Little Chute Cycle club was to give a road race the following afternoon. The start was to be made from the postoffice out Freedom road to VanGomple's place, then east to Vanasten's, down the Diederich road to Rose Hill and back to the starting point. The handicap limit was three minutes and the time prize was a $25 diamond stud.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Collins of Hortonville and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bussan, of Appleton, were in Winneconne, where they were to camp for a week.

Three Republican conventions were held at the hourthouse. The delegates selected for the congressional convention at Waupaca were W. H. Nash, M. K. Gochnauer, T. L. Johnson, John Leppia, James Dean, C. R. Walter, T. N. Torrey and J. C. Mitchell. Delegates selected for the state convention by the First assembly district were C. H. Baake, F. W. Harriman, John Wunderlich, Anton Ritger and Thomas Pearson; Second assembly district, Dr. Tanner, C. E. Raughter, Peter Tubbs, M. D. Leeman and Thomas Longworth.

S. R. Wagg was granted a patent on an apparatus for coloring webs of paper.

Soda Costs And Prices

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington.—The ice cream soda and nut sundae business is very uncertain these days. Small boys in New York have staged a soda water buyer's strike to force the return of the five cent soda. Chicago is conducting a campaign to and on the fair rate for confectioners and shoving across the counter one chocolate soda. Providence has already demanded and obtained reductions on certain fountain beverages. And if other cities are not following suit with militant warfare, they are economizing on drinks to an extent that is being noticed by the fountain operators.

Haskin

People are said to be much less reckless this summer in consuming ice cream. That is, they are passing up the elaborate concoctions with alluring names which a year ago were in great demand, and are turning to the cheaper drinks. New York dealers who have been lading out 50 cent fountain dishes regularly have had to reduce the price of their "specials." But even at fountains where 15 and 20 cents is not distasteful to the clerks, trade is said to have dropped from 10 to 30 per cent this summer as compared with the same months last year.

Druggists and confectioners everywhere are pondering what to do about fountain prices. The 10 cent soda is not considered a possibility by most of them now. It is appearing here and there among the dealers who feel that circumstances warrant its return and where pressure is being applied. The majority of druggists, however, so far as the sentiment can be measured, insist that there is no profit in a 10 cent soda or a 15 cent sundae.

The public is naturally asking why this is so. A couple of summers ago with the cost of an ice cream soda with no flourishes shot up to 17 cents or even 22 cents, the reason for the increase was laid by fountain proprietors to the high cost of sugar. Sugar was certainly skyrocketing when it reached four times its normal price and the consumer accepted the explanation.

Sugar Costs Normal Again.

But now, sugar is back to nearly where it was in the days when ice cream soda sold for a nickel and the closest observer is unable to detect any move on the part of most fountain owners to return to even 10 cents drinks.

Druggists admit they made a mistake in attributing the rise in soda prices primarily to the high cost of sugar. They now say that other factors contributed equally to the rise. However, milk is back to almost pre-war prices; eggs are cheap. These are the ingredients which presumably increased the cost of ice cream. Why doesn't the finished product follow the trend of prices on raw materials?

To the druggists—except the few who have lowered fountain prices—say that still other factors must be considered in fixing costs and profits. They contend that labor all along the line, from the handling of ice and the making of ice cream, to the disposing of drinks at the fountain is not back to the level of five cent, or even 10 cent soda days. Some large concerns have cut down the number of employees rather than lower the wages of fountain clerks. Only undesirable, inexperienced employees can be had, they say, at lower pay.

The druggist goes on to mention the high express rates, the rising cost of advertising, the still soaring price of fruit syrups, and nuts, and the cost of ice cream. Ice cream, supposedly the barometer of fountain prices, has dropped to varying extents in different parts of the country. A questionnaire sent out by "The Bulletin of Pharmacy" brought in 344 answers showing ice cream costs in 46 states. A resume of the answers indicated that "the most noticeable drop in price is in certain sections of New England where bulk cream tumbled from $1.80 a gallon in 1920 to $1.25 in 1921. Other scattered sections report reductions of 10 to 25 cents under a year ago figures."

The range of prices on ice cream was shown to be astonishingly varied, running from $.90 to $1.80 a gallon on bulk cream and from $1.25 to $3.40 a gallon on bricks.

Taking everything into consideration, the fountain owner maintains that the cost of fountain drinks has not dropped appreciably. He points to an expert's estimate showing that the syrup in a soda costs $.0204; ice, $.0006; carbonated water, $.0016; and ice cream $.02—total, $.0526. To this the expert adds overhead and salaries which he figures come to not less than five cents.

The cost of a sundae he estimates at four cents for ice cream and three cents for fruit, and when extra touches, such as cherries, or nuts are added, three more cents, to which again he adds a nickel for the intangible overhead. From his estimates he claims that 15 cents is the logical price for a soda now, and 20 cents for a sundae.

The final argument from the dealer's side is that customers have become more particular than in the good old days to which they so feelingly refer. The man who plunked down a nickel and got a glass casually washed, sloppily filled to overflowing and slammed down on a sticky counter with files lapping up the spilled syrup, felt that he had a nickel's worth. Today he would not feel that this sort of service was worth 15 cents or even a nickel. Soda fountains have had to raise their standards of cleanliness and service. And they could not go back to extreme carelessness if they wished, at least not where health departments keep an eye on sanitation in eating places. Fountain owners claim that cleanliness and attractiveness of the fountain are big items in the important overhead.

The customer is rather at a disadvantage in the price argument in cities where there have been such arguments. He cannot quote rates and costs so glibly as the business man. The burden of his refrain is that with sugar and milk and eggs so much cheaper and most other things a little cheaper, fountain drinks certainly ought to average a little less than war prices.

Penny Pinching. One druggist's answer to this is a commentary on psychology. He says the public wouldn't take any account of a two or three cent drop in price; that the public doesn't like to bother with prices complicated by pennies. A few years ago, this would have been accepted as an axiom by most people, but today it is believed that many consumers would deny it.

The buying public, willingly or not, has got used to pennies. Purchase of a soda or two sodas already demands brain exercise on the part of the buyer to add 10 per cent to the listed price of the drink. And with the tendency to economy on the increase, buyers are again beginning to consider the penny. Certainly the protests against the tax on fountain drinks, and statements of fountain operators that removal of the tax would increase business are not based entirely on the American public's distaste for handling pennies. It is as much the cost of the article which arouses protest.

Druggists are hoping and expecting that the tax will be removed before the end of the year. Mr. Mellon has advocated a repeal of the soft drinks tax, and several bills have provided for this. The cost of collecting so small a tax has been high and druggists and buyers have from the first protested that it taxes as luxuries drinks which people buy as part of a lunch.

The soft drink tax is hanging in the balance. It may continue. In the meantime, fountain owners of one city at least—Marion, Indiana—have solved the problem of fountain prices and pennies for the present by absorbing the luxury tax and charging 15 cents for a soda, the tax included. This is one moderate step toward old prices.

Q. How can a diamond in the rough be recognized? G. W. B.

A. A diamond in the rough may be any color, but diamonds in this state generally have a greasy luster. Different colors may be seen in the stone before it is polished. If the stone is fractured, but those colors are not the colors that are seen in cut and polished stones. The United States Geological Survey says that a diamond can only be tested by an expert.

Q. In what English words does the letter "f" have the sound of "v"? J. J.

A. The word "of" is the only English word we find in which "f" has the sound of "v."

Q. What was the time of the Ming dynasty referred to in relation to age of porcelains? C. J. C.

A. It is believed that true porcelain, as we know it today, appeared first during the Ming dynasty. This was established in the fourteenth century, but porcelains with authentic history probably do not antedate the fifteenth century.

Q. Need a Pope be a Cardinal prior to election? M. E. P.

A. The new Pope need not be a Cardinal, he need not be even a Priest, but may be a layman. If not already a Bishop he is consecrated and then comes the great ceremony of the coronation from which he dates his pontificate.

Q. Was Alexandria, Virginia, ever part of the District of Columbia? C. D. D.

A. Alexandria, originally called Bellehaven, was part of the territory ceded to the United States in 1793. It was retroceded in 1846 and again became a part of Virginia in 1847.

Q. When is a board a plank? F. B. S.

A. The Department of Agriculture defines a plank as a board 6 inches wide or upwards, having a thickness between 1 1/4 inches and 6 inches.

Q. What does the expression "ring the bells backward" mean? D. L. S.

A. This refers to an old custom of striking chimes in reverse order as a signal of alarm.

Q. Can porcupines throw their quills and how far? H. J. D.

A. The quills are loosely inserted in the skin of a porcupine and may upon being violently shaken become detached and thrown.

Q. What was the name of the armed sailing vessels used by the Malay pirates? J. G. K.

A. These large rowboats, carrying two masts with high triangular sails, and armed with a few small swivel guns, are called gallivats.

AUSTRIANS ARE CHIEF SUFFERERS IN READJUSTMENT

Value of Money Has Fallen So Low That Industry Is Paralyzed.

BY COL. E. M. HOUSE
Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co.
London—The theory and practice of self-determination finished what the World War began, and an empire of 62,000,000 of people vanished over night. We find in the fragments of the empire, each striving to constitute independent governments and to bring financial and economic order out of chaos.

Austria, central figure of the old monarchy, has now a square million but little more than that of South Carolina and a population of but 6,250,000; of these, 2,000,000 form the city of Vienna. It is a unique situation and presents one of the most interesting political and economic problems with which a people has had to deal. The League of Nations, recognizing the peculiar conditions under which Austria is trying to live, has worked out a formula for international assistance. Even if this can be carried through, it is doubtful whether it will meet the needs.

Likewise the other continental belligerent states, the financial condition is more serious than the economic. Nowhere among the former powers has the monetary unit shown such depreciation. The Krone, which was formerly five for the dollar—a loss more than 600 per cent.—is now more than 100 for the dollar—a loss
so tremendous that it has desolated every branch of the economic and financial structure.

Austria is unfortunate in her lack of coal. She is almost entirely dependent upon her importations, and this is perhaps the determining factor in the rate of exchange. It is believed that the coal imports could be reduced to 40 per cent of their present volume if the water power were perfectly developed. This might become one of the most important factors in any plan for Austria's rehabilitation.

The returns of the water power register show that even at low-water mark there is something over 4,000-000 horsepower available, of which perhaps half would be worth exploiting. It would be difficult for the state to undertake this development with the Krone at its present value, for when the day came for the redemption of the debt the Krone might well be of so much greater value than now as to disorganize again the national finances.

The hope then is that outside capital may be induced to do this needful work, and Austria is ready to make valuable concessions in order that it may be brought about. The rivers Enns, Mur and Danube are the most promising openings for immediate exploitation, because of their proximity to Vienna, where the demand for power is most insistent.

In Vienna are gathered the demoted officials of a once world power and also the major part of its intellectuals. It is this class which has suffered most, and for them there seems no good way out of their troubles. Labor is at a standstill, and the Krone depreciated, and has kept living conditions on something like a parity with pre-war days. Not so with the intellectuals and those who retired upon a fixed income. A pre-war income of $24,000, measured in our money, has now shrunk to about $200, a wholly inadequate sum to sustain a single person, much less a family. And the end is not yet, for the necessity to purchase food and coal from the outside continues to drive the Krone downward.

And yet courage and hope still burn brightly upon a foundation so slender.

Notwithstanding the decrease in the price of commodities throughout the world the imported food coming into Austria, expressed in Krone, shows a steady increase, which is explained by continued depreciation of the Austrian currency. In these circumstances, the abolition of subsidies on rationed foodstuffs, which constitute such a drain on the Austrian budget, is an impossibility. There would follow as a consequence a demand for increased wages, etc., etc., and there would be an ever increasing amount of unsecured paper money.

Turning from Austria as she is today to the segregated parts of the old Empire, we find a more cheerful outlook. They are more nearly self-sustaining, and have greater resources.
With a readjustment of their laws regarding trade and travel, and with some adjustment of their debts and the stabilization of their monetary units, those states should come through to a fairly satisfactory economic and financial condition.

To one who lived in the southern states after the civil war, these late enemies and defeated countries do not seem to have suffered in like proportion. At least the scars are not so visible. While the loss of life and the number of maimed was incomparably greater in this war, the financial wreckage was not more complete, and the recovery will not take as long.

Europe can and will resume an orderly life. Even Russia is indicating some reaction. The convalescence of Europe has begun, but how soon complete recovery comes will depend upon the wisdom and toleration of the leaders and the willingness of the people to adjust themselves to the new conditions with four years of a bloody and destructive war have brought about.

Girl Scouts Learn to Swim

The "Shamrock" Girl Scout troops of St. Mary church met Friday evening at the municipal swimming pool.
Members are meeting regularly during the hot season at the swimming pool or at some other outdoor place rather than for the regular school work. All of the girls have learned to swim and are expending their en-

Did for Her

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how I have a nice strong, healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

How can women who are weak and sickly expect or hope to become mothers of healthy children? Their first duty is to themselves. They should overcome the derangement or debility that is dragging them down, and strengthen the entire system, as did Mrs. Janssen, by taking Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and give their children the blessing of a good constitution.

Find Hobo With Soap And Towel; World Changes

Here's a "bum" that is not in his right mind or else he's green at the business, for he goes contrary to all rules of hobbling. He gives his name as Jim Dunn, says he hails from Bay City, Mich., and was taken into custody by the police Friday night after he had been loitering and sleeping in the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad yards for two or three nights.
Dunn's departure from custom was revealed when the police officers searched him and found a towel, soap and comb. He also had a railroad timetable. Tramps invariably flee from soap and water, and when they rob a clothesline, take all but the towels, so Dunn stands as an example of reform in the genus hobo.

Chief George T. Prim told him Appleton was no loafing place, and to take the next train out.

Oliver Roberts Barton
JACK FROST WORKS
By Oliver Roberts Barton

How Old Man Flood got up to the sky again, no one told me, so I cannot tell you, but anyway he went,
and as Jack Frost hurried around from place to place, blowing his breath on everything and putting the icestoppers back into place, the water in Ripple Creek got lower and lower and less yellow and muddy, until the stream looked quite like its old beautiful self again. They do say that Tor-ty Turtle and some of his ancestors were swept right down to the river and almost out to sea, and that, traveling so slowly 'n' all, the way they do, they haven't quite got back home
yet. But isn't it a good thing that Jack Frost put a stop to things when he did, as Sprinkle-Blow told him?
For if the turtle family had been carried all the way out to sea there isn't any doubt that their health would have been ruined. Salt water is good for some turtles, but not for Torty's kind, and you know and I know that sea-water is as salty as bacon.

All the water folk were put to it to find their own homes again, and Phil Frog and his wife are still trying to find some of their lost tadpole children. Phil is worried for fear their tails will shrink and their legs grow in without him being there to see, and as, he says, what's the use of having a family if you can't watch it grow up? But I am sure that everything will be settled by and by, and everybody will get back where he belongs some time.

One thing sure, Nancy and Nick learned a lesson. That sometimes the things that we don't mean to do cause the most mischief, and they resolved to be very careful thereafter.

Confessions of a Bride

(Copyright 1920)
BOOK OF JANE'S.
Great God of Chance.

With a great show of courage, I decided to investigate our neighbor's promises. Chrys and I had reached the roofed Japanese gate in the thick wall. I looked through the turnstile and saw, close to us, two peddlers, foreigners carrying trays supported by straps about their necks.
"Gypsies?" I whispered to Chrys.
"No! From their turbans, they're Hindus," Chrys replied.
The turbaned peddlers salaamed, hastened toward us, opened their trays; faces in one, hand-made, exquisite, absurdly cheap.
"Antiques! I must have this piece —and this! Take your stock up to the house," Chrys ordered. "We will select some more!"
"Mais, Madame! Voyez-vous!"
The second Hindu addressed me.
Chrys turned a careless glance upon his wares, rings, chains, bracelets of tarnished silver set with semi-precious stones, then returned to the ladies. I investigated the jewelry. I never came across such antiques without looking for a bit of lapis lazuli. Suddenly I restrained a little cry of joy.
In a corner of the box, mixed with what was undoubtedly worthless trash, I beheld the one particular ring
I had been seeking for months!
It was the trinket Certes had given me from his collection of medieval treasures. The square lapis, in a setting of hand-wrought silver, had a secret spring which, when touched, revealed a tiny box. It was the charm which had protected me from insult when I had nursed the crew of the submarine. It had been snatched from my finger one midnight when I had reached from my bedroom window for a curtain flying loose in the first strong wind of a thunder storm.
I must possess it again, at any price, but the Hindu must not suspect that I was especially interested in it.
I felt his dark eyes scrutinizing my features. I gave the bijou a careless glance and turned away. Over my shoulder carelessly, I asked:
"Have you any green stones, jade perhaps? The fashionable color every woman wants?"
He had plenty of them, but he did not offer them to me. He picked up my precious lapis lazuli at once, and held it out to me.
"Mame should wear blue—always! Take this!" he said very gravely.
I fancied that I detected some deep significance in his words. I began to suspect that the ring had not come back to me by chance.

Use Wild Fruits

Blackberries growing wild in the fence corners make just as delicious jam as the cultivated variety. Of course the wild ones are a bit seedier, but they are sweeter, too.

Four pounds apples, 2 pounds berries, 4 pounds sugar.
Look over berries, wash and drain.
Put in a crock with 2 cups of sugar and let stand over night. In the morning put berries over a slow fire and simmer until the juice is extracted. Pare, core and slice apples.
Put in preserving kettle with the strained juice of the berries and the rest of the sugar. Boil gently for three-quarters of an hour. Pour into sterilized jars and seal while boiling.

Blackberry Jam
Four quarts berries, 1 lemon, pound for pound of sugar and fruit.
Pick over berries and wash in the bottom of the preserving kettle with a wooden potato masher. Add lemon juice and bring slowly to the boiling point. Sift in sugar and cook slowly for an hour. Pour into sterilized cans and seal while boiling hot.

IS YOUR BUSINESS STATIONERY DISTINCTIVE?
Does your business stationery say to your customer, "I am substantial and reliable," or does it give him a negative, false impression of you? Golden opportunities to reinforce prestige are often sacrificed for the saving of a few pennies in printing. Probably no money saving was effected.
Every letterhead, envelope and billhead does more than carry the message itself—it conveys an impression to the one who receives it. Make

DON'T NEED LICENSE FOR AUTO TRAILER

Special to Post-Crescent
Madison.—An automobile trailer has no motor and therefore is not classed under the law as a motor vehicle, either automobile or truck, and needs no license in Wisconsin according to an opinion by Deputy Attorney General Ralph M. Hoyt given to Lancelot A. Gordon, assistant secretary of state. It was held that a farmer may use a trailer attached to his passenger automobile to haul milk or anything else and that he may loan it to his neighbor for use of any kind without being compelled to procure a special license. In an opinion by Assistant Attorney General E. E. Brossard given to District Attorney George F. Merrill, Ashland county, it was held that property purchased by an Indian should not be exempted from taxation until the supreme courts of Wisconsin and the United States had passed upon the question, despite the fact that several federal circuit courts have held the land is exempt from taxation. District Attorney Merrill was advised if necessary to carry the case to the supreme court and the cooperation of the attorney general's department was promised. One case is now pending in Monroe county.

In the Ashland case, Lucy Haskins, an Indian, purchased a 40 acre tract of land with the proceeds of the sale of timber from her allotted land. Taxes were assessed against the 40 acres and were paid and a demand made for the return of the taxes. It was held that under the constitution property once taxed cannot be withdrawn from taxation.

SCHOOL BOARD IS OBLIGED TO BUY PLAYGROUND PARK

State Superintendent's Ruling May Cause Hard Feeling at Kaukauna.

Kaukauna.—That the Kaukauna school board not only has the authority to buy Eden park but is now obliged to do so in view of the action of voters at the annual school meeting, is the statement made by John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction, in a letter to A. R. McDonald who asked a ruling on the matter.

The superintendent's ruling came as a surprise to members of the school board who had consulted counsel to interpret the laws concerning the powers of school boards. The legal opinion given them was that they had no authority to purchase the property unless for school or teacherage sites or for playground purposes. The resolution passed by the voters at the school meeting authorized the board to buy the park "for school purposes."

This was a different wording than contained in the resolution as originally drawn up which stated that the property should be purchased for "park purposes." Upon presenting the resolution to the meeting it was found that the school board's authority could not be extended to permit the purchase of a park so the wording of the resolution was changed.

The state superintendent's decision threatens to open a long controversy and cause no end of trouble. The board, it is understood, hesitates to undertake the purchase of the park even with the superintendent's backing and if school patrons attempt to force the purchase, litigation may be resorted to.

In the meantime the action of all parties is being watched with considerable interest as the outcome will have a tremendous bearing on similar propositions in the future and will set a precedent for school boards of the state. It is pointed out that if school boards have the authority to purchase parks, they have the authority to "load" their districts with any property which might appear remotely essential for "school purposes."

Y. M. C. A. WHIPS CLERKS

By a score of 4 to 1, the Y. M. C. A. team won a victory over the City Clerks at the city park diamond Thursday night. The teams are members of the Twilight League.

The "Y" won the game in the first two innings by running in two scores in each of these frames. Had it not been for an error made by Zink in the fifth frame, the Clerks would have been shut out. Zink let Minkebe's grounder elude him and the man made first safely. He was scored by a hit from Elmerman, Cook struck out ten men for the "Y" and Fagan fanned five for the Clerks. Three base hits were made by Medcalf and Minkebe.

The lineup was: Y. M. C. A., Zink, lb; Ryan, c; Wolf, 2b; Melcalf, lf; Cook, p; Musolf, rf; Roelitz, ss; Feehan, c; Seager, 3b. Clerks, Minkebe, 2b; Elmerman, c; Hass, 1b; Johnson 3b; Ashauer, ss; Webster, lf; Feogan, p; VanLieshout, cf; Miller, rf.

SOCIETY WOMAN DOES WASHING FOR NEEDY

San Francisco.—A move from a place where household help was easy to get—
A washing machine sent out by her husband—
A word from a minister—
And Mrs. B. F. Thomas found her pet charity here.

But let Mrs. Thomas tell you about it:
"Soon after moving to San Francisco from Mississippi I found that there was no cheap reliable help to lighten the burdens of our household," says she, "so my husband sent out a washing and ironing machine."

"I discovered then that washing was really fun. My machine saved so much time that soon I was looking for new fields to conquer."

"Our minister happened to mention, one day, that a member of the congregation had two children ill with pneumonia. So I drove out to see if there was anything I could do. I found the poor little mother bending over steaming tubs valiantly trying to do a washing for five people and care for two sick children."

"I knew where I could help! I piled the washing in the back of the car and took it home. The next day I returned it washed and ironed. Her thanks were all the pay I needed."

"So now," says Mrs. Thomas, "I always keep in touch with some family I can help in that way."

Compare DORT Prices

In the Dort you find to a superlative degree both beauty and competency.

It consequently astonishes the average person that Dort prices are so very low.

Only a close corporation with every stockholder active and zealous could market so great a value at so little a price.

That the Dort is built by such a company is the leading reason why such a complete, comfortable and wholly satisfactory car can be bought at Dort prices.

CATLIN IS URGED AS CANDIDATE FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Appleton Man's Legislative Record Has Given Him State-wide Prominence.

Although the next state campaign is a year off Republican leaders already are casting about for candidates on whom to unite, according to word from Madison. The legislature which ended its long session a few days ago, produced several men of promise but none of them has received more favorable mention or consideration than Mark S. Catlin, floor leader of the conservative wing in the assembly and recognized as the most powerful man in the legislature.

Mr. Catlin now is being considered as a possible candidate for attorney general to succeed William J. Morgan, incumbent. Morgan, it is said, will be candidate for governor at the next election and Catlin is regarded as his logical successor because he is a leader of the faction of the Republican party which supported Morgan.

Mr. Catlin did not know of the boom for him until he visited Madison last week. He has not given it any consideration. It is probable he will be a candidate for reelection to the assembly if he does not enter the race for the attorney generalship.

Governor Blaine undoubtedly will be a candidate for reelection. It was reported from the capital city, State Treasurer Henry Johnson also is being considered for that position but it is not likely he will get in the race if Morgan decides to run. Solomon Levitan, perennial candidate for Johnson's position, again will receive the support of the LaFollette wing if it was said.

CHERRY PICKERS HOME IN 15 DAYS

Appleton cherry pickers at Camp Goff, Sturgeon Bay, have started picking the late crop and expect to be home in 12 or 15 days, according to a letter received from Joseph E. Dennison, camp director.

Many trees were blown down in the windstorm which visited the northern part of the state Monday morning. Monday evening the Camp Goff baseball team played Main camp at the fair grounds, defeating the latter by a score of 6 to 2. Royal LaRose was on the mound for the Appleton boys.

The boys heard of the work of Mr. McConnell of Fou Chow, China, in a talk given Sunday evening. He referred specifically to work among boys and men.

Mr. Dennison says the boys are enjoying their outing and are maintaining excellent morale. The group headed by Theron Nemaehack went the watermelon several days ago for picking an average for the group of 100 8-10 quarts.

SAWMILL WILL BEGIN OPERATIONS SEPT. 1.

The new sawmill of Otto E. Knoke of Hatley, located at the north end of the former fair grounds on west College ave. will be ready for operation by Sept. 1. The engine and machinery have been installed and the finishing touches are now being put on the main building. A large warehouse was completed some time ago and work has just been commenced on a new barn. The planing mill is the only building aside from the barn that remains to be erected. A boarding house which also furnishes lodging for the men was built early in the summer. Mr. Knoke plans to move his family to Appleton where he will make his permanent residence.

One Accident On Busiest Rail Crossing In 16 Years

Majority of Railroad Flagmen
Here Are Veterans in the Service.

Joseph Hoffman, flagman at College-ave. crossing for 16 years, who retired last week after having served two years over the age limit of 70 years, was the oldest flagman in point of service in Appleton. He was in the employ of the Northwestern Railway Co. for 18 years, having been stationed at Drew-st. crossing the first 2 years.

Mr. Hoffman's hours while on duty were from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. During his long term of service he had only one accident to report, that of the Kunitz hearse four years ago when Oscar Kunitz and David Brettschneider narrowly escaped being killed by a train.

The former flagman has a modern home on Fifth-st. and said he is not worrying about the future as he always made it a point to save his money. He was born in Germany and began to work when 10 years old. He came to this country 35 years ago, locating in Appleton. Before taking up flagging he bought and sold paper mill felt. He has three sons, Frank, who has been in the navy for 30 years; Max, who enlisted in California early in the war with Germany and from whom he has not since had word; and Emil, who is employed in a local manufacturing plant.

Mr. Hoffman's retirement shifted the hours of the other two flagmen.

On Section 40 Years
Albert Braeger has been stationed at Locust-st. crossing for 11 years and during that time has never had an accident. Before taking up flagging he was employed on the section for 31 years. His brother, Frank Braeger, has been stationed at Drew-st. crossing for more than a year and before that he was employed as a section hand for 40 years.

Philip Schneider has charge of State-st. crossing for a year and a half and has been flagging for over 11 years. He was originally stationed at Law-st. and from there was transferred to Oneida-st. and then to College-ave., where he was employed for five and one-half years. He originally worked in a paper mill.

Mike J. Good has been stationed at North Division-st. since he took up flagging over 17 years ago and is among those who never had an accident. Before taking up his present work he also was employed in a paper mill.

John Roelter is stationed at Superior-st. crossing and has been there for four years. Originally he was employed on the street car line for 14 years and had also worked as a section hand.

Fred Kosetzka and Steve Michels have charge of Appleton-st. crossing. The former has been flagging for only five months and before engaging in that work was employed on a section for four years and in a paper mill for 25 years. The latter, who was formerly engaged in draying, has held his present position for four years.

Oneida-st. crossing has three flagmen, Charles Kittner, Theodore Thomas and William Staple. Mr. Kittner also was a drayman before taking up flagging three years ago and was in that work for twenty-five years. The other two flagmen have been stationed at Oneida-st. for about six years each.

Had One Accident
Henry Leubben has been in charge of Morrison-st. crossing for three years which is the extent of his flagging experience. Before taking up railroad work he was employed in the Valley Iron Works. The only accident in which he was concerned happened to a motor truck belonging to the Wheeler Transfer Co. which was badly damaged.

Durkeest crossing has been in charge of Carl Harkophf for seven years. Previous to accepting his present position, Mr. Harkophf had been employed in section work. During the time he has had charge of the crossing there has been one fatal accident. William Warner has charge of two crossings, Union and Law-sts. and operates gates at each of them from a tower located midway in the block. He has been in charge of these crossings for eight years and reports no accidents. Mr. Warner has been in the railroad service off and on all his life and in the early days was in the employ of the Milwaukee & North-ern, now the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, and the old Lake Shore & Western road; now the Ashland division of the Northwestern road. He also worked for D. B. Bailey for seven years and for the Interlake Pulp & Paper Co. for an equal length of time.

Walter Green is stationed at Meade-st. crossing, which has had flagmen for less than six months. After the death last December of a young man named Steffen the city took the matter up with the Northwestern Railway Co. and was granted the necessary protection. Two flagmen are stationed there, the other being Willard Storch. Mr. Green has been flagging since 1918, but has been stationed at Meade-st. crossing only three weeks.

WHOLE GIBBONS FAMILY HAS HAND IN TOM'S TRAINING

Wife and Two Youngsters Enjoy Life in Woods—Working for His Boys.

(This is another of the stories Tom Gibbons, challenger for the light heavyweight title, is writing for the Post-Crescent. Gibbons fights Georges Carpentier in October, and is expected to be the next man to fight Champion Jack Dempsey.)

BY TOMMY GIBBONS
Light Heavyweight Challenger
Osakis, Minn.—Training here on the lake is like a picnic for my family.

Helen, my wife and our two little boys, Tommy Jr. and little Jack, enjoy it as much as I do.

Our whole life centers around the two youngsters. My first desire after a fight is to rush back home. Helen doesn't object to my being a fighter.

She says that if the boys want to take up boxing as a business, when they grow up she won't oppose that either. Of course she would want them to be top notchers or not fight at all.

Plans for Boys
As for me, I'd rather they'd be lawyers or doctors or presidents or something like that.

Tommy, Jr. isn't quite four yet. But he already shows some mighty good signs of being a fighter. Little Jack, who will soon be two, isn't big enough to show us what his inclinations are.

Parents can't plan their children's lives for them altogether. Whatever they want to do and be when they grow up will suit me. Children have to figure out their likes and dislikes for themselves.

The one thing I do intend to give them is a college education. I didn't have one myself.

Plain Foods
We only have plain foods. My main standby is roast beef cooked rare. For breakfast I eat eggs and toast. We usually have a cold lunch of sandwiches of some kind. I have the real appetite at night. After being outdoors all day and with my regular ring training I can eat anything—a lot of it.

Later on, when the bird season opens, we'll have plenty of wild meat. That's what I like best.

My cottage here is just a stone's throw from the lake.

My brother Mike has a cottage next to mine. But Mike isn't here this summer. He bought a farm near St. Paul this spring and is spending his time there and at his city home.

He says it isn't wild enough here any more. Too many people come to Osakis for the summer season now.

Next year we may go farther north. There's more game up there. And hunting is the best sport in the world.

Watching The Scoreboard
Yesterday's heroes: Deal and Grimes hit homers in the ninth inning driving in four runs that gave the Cubs a 6 to 1 victory over the Phils.

The Pirates and the Braves divided a double bill. Hamilton gave the Braves a 2 to 1 victory in the first game when he walked Holke with the bases filled in the tenth inning. The second went 13 innings, Pittsburgh winning 4 to 3 on Bueche's single, a passed ball and Carey's single.

Brooklyn strengthened the hold on fourth place by trimming the Cardinals twice in succession 6 to 5. Walter Reuther finished the game.

The Reds mauled Phil Douglas and Cecil Algernon Casary, while Luque was holding the Giants safe all the way and they won 11 to 2.

RACINE BASEBALL TEAM
WANTS TO PLAY BRANDT'S
Manager H. H. Hintz of the Hamilton Beach baseball team of Racine has written the management of the Brandts for a game some time during August if an open date is available or they will play after Labor day if that is satisfactory.

This team has been playing fast all season and wants to journey up state for a scrap with a good aggregation. It is possible that a game will be scheduled some time in September.

FACTORY LEAGUE PLAYS
THREE GAMES IN APPLETON
The following schedule of baseball games has been arranged for Saturday by the Industrial league: Kimberly Clark vs. Northern Boiler works at 3 o'clock at Kimberly; Appleton Woolen Mills vs. Fox River Paper Co. at 2 o'clock at Interlake park. Combined Looks Paper Co., vs. Valley Iron Works at 3:30 at Interlake park; Appleton Coated Paper Co. vs. Interlake at 2 o'clock at Brandt park.

HE GETS DOLLAR PER SOCK

Joe Hauser

Joe Hauser, Milwaukee's kid first sacker, gets a dollar for every home run he makes.

His brother, who is a policeman on the long force presents him with one buck every time he loses a baseball.

The kid will soon have a bank account. Up to the middle of July he had put $11 away in the bank as the revenue from his home runs.

One dollar for a home run seems like a small piece of change when compared to what they say Babe gets every time he drives one.

Last fall when he was making his record of 54 it was said that Ruth collected $500 each for his socks as a bonus.

And Babe's earnings off his home-run fame plus bonuses and salary sent his 1920 income up to more than $100,000.

This is Hauser's third year in professional ball. He's only 21 and hopes to make a lot more than a dollar each off his home runs some day.

MIKE GIBBONS PROUD OF YOUNGER BROTHER

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Big brothers who used to lord it all over the kid of the family can sympathize with Mike Gibbons.

Mike used to be the big boss of his brother Tom, but things are all changed now.

Tom's chief claim to fame used to rest in being the brother of the famous Mike. Now Mike is known as the brother of the famous Tom.

Mike, the "Old Phantom," is here training for a rather inferior bout with Augie Rautner. Tom is getting ready for a crack at the light heavyweight championship and higher against Georges Carpentier.

"Before we knew anything about the gloves I used to have it all over Tom," Mike said here today. "He was just a little fellow and I could cuff him around whenever I wanted—whenever father wasn't looking."

"Then I started boxing and as Tom took on size he thought the gloves gave him a chance to get even and he started to learn the game. But he didn't get along very fast. He learned how to box but he didn't develop punch enough to hurt me. I could easily avoid anything he tried to give me."

"But Tom grew bigger, he became a better boxer and he learned to hit. He has me with the gloves now. I don't want to stop anything that he doesn't pull."

INTERLAKES TO PLAY
KAUKAUNA HERE SUNDAY
With practically the same team which defeated the Wisconsin Telephone Co. last Sunday, the Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. baseball team will play the Kaukauna Royals at Interlake park Sunday afternoon. Sternagle will pitch for the pulp mill team.

The Interlakes have booked a game with the Chicago and Northwestern team for Sunday, July 31, at Interlake park. The team is looking for Sunday games with other strong teams.

WANT TO KNOW HOW FILMS
GOT INTO NEW YORK CITY
By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Investigation to determine how the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films were smuggled out of New Jersey into New York will be started Saturday, according to United States District Attorney Hayward. He intimated that Tex Rickard and all the officials connected with the fight would be summoned the first of the week before the federal grand jury to tell what they knew about the transportation of the films.

Producers of the pictures repeated today that they would be shown all day Sunday at a Broadway theatre.

OSHKOSH MAGNATE LEADS IN MOVE TO CUT OFF TWO TEAMS

Steckbauer Wants Kimberly Ousted—New London Ready to Quit.

Total or partial dissolution of the Fox River Valley league is foreshadowed in a letter from Manager Fred Steckbauer of Oshkosh to the management of the Brandts.

The Overalls express disgust at the trend things are taking in the league and do not hesitate to suggest that the Kimberly team should be ejected for the rest of the season. Kimberly was scheduled to play in Oshkosh on Sunday but due to work on the grandstand there it is impossible to entertain fans so Oshkosh asked that the game be transferred to Kimberly.

Kimberly would not listen to this proposal because they said a game there would be a financial failure since Appleton is to play at Kaukauna. Steckbauer charges. It was then suggested that the game be played at Pond du Lac if grounds could be secured. Manager Steckbauer was negotiating with the Ruepping Leather Co for the use of its diamond but was not making any progress according to reports on Friday.

New London is also ready to give up for the season. The loss of Klawitter as manager and Sengstock as catcher has been a telling blow to the team's prospects and the Edisons declare they cannot finance their outfit for the remainder of the season.

Manager Steckbauer suggests that a four team league be organized by dropping Kimberly and New London. This would leave Menasha, Oshkosh, Kaukauna and Appleton. The Kaukauna management heartily indorses the proposition and will lend its support, it was said. Should this project fall down, Oshkosh hints it would be likely to withdraw.

Reports from Kimberly have indicated thus far that the team is quite well able to finish the season. It is more than probable that Steckbauer's suggestion to drop the mill team will raise a storm of protest, which may blow up the league into individual depression. Has been responsible for poor attendance at New London games this season.

SEEK 'CONFESSIONS' OF GAME THROWERS
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—State authorities Saturday were making every effort to locate the waivers of immunity signed by three "Black Sox" players when they made their alleged confessions of playing a part in "fixing" the 1919 world series.

The last witness on the stand in the case against the seven former White Sox stars and four alleged gamblers was Stanley Replogle, who was assistant state's attorney during the grand jury investigation of the baseball scandal.

Replogle testified that Cicotte, Jackson and Williams signed statements admitting their guilt and signed immunity waivers.

It was discovered the waivers were missing following Replogle's testimony. The alleged signed statements by the three defendants are also missing.

The "Black Sox" trial which was not in session today, will be resumed Monday.

YOST TO TRAIN COACHES
Ann Harbor, Mich.—The day of the hit-or-miss athletic coach is past, according to "Hurry Up" Fielding H. Yost, Michigan mentor.

"Even high school boys know a lot about the fine points of the game now," says Yost.

"They are demanding trained coaches and they are going to get them. We've been turning out trained athletes for years. Now we're going to turn out trained coaches, trainers and directors of physical education."

Yost was recently made director of intercollegiate athletics at Michigan where he has served as football coach for 20 years.

He is organizing a 4 year course in physical education which will be taught next fall.

Women as well as men will be trained to be athletic coaches, trainers, gymnasium instructors and playground directors.

Sport Views And News

As usual, the St. Louis Browns have started their usual mid summer winning streak. This is an annual happening but the worst part of it is, it generally doesn't last long enough to do much damage. The Browns individually rank close to any team in the American league this season but some how they haven't been able to get going on victory road. Right now they are leading the second division and only about four games behind third place. If Sisler, Gerber, Tobin and the rest of the Browns keep on traveling at their present gait, they may yet kick up a lot of dust in the pennant hunt.

It begins to look as if the Brooklyn Dodgers are through as a contender for the National league flag. The Dodgers have been very erratic throughout the season and Manager Robinson hasn't been able to get his machine hitting on all four. Aside from Grimes, none of the pitchers have shown any signs of their 1920 form.

Dame Rumor has it that a professional basketball league will be organized in Wisconsin this winter. Reports to this effect have been heard for a long time but nothing ever came of it. League basketball has proved a big money maker in the east and there is no reason why it could not be handled successfully in Wisconsin. The state is strong for basketball and an eight or ten club circuit, handled in a businesslike manner, with a ban on jumpers should be a pretty good sporting proposition.

There will be a new golf champion in Wisconsin this year. Dick Cavanaugh, holder of the title, met his Waterloo in the semi finals at the hands of D. E. Matteson of Janesville, who is a newcomer in Badger the honor on and off for the past golf circles. Cavanaugh has held ten years and it is probably a good thing for the game that somebody else horns in once in a while and takes a fall out of the champion.

CHANCE TO CLOSE IN ON LEAGUE LEADERS

Appleton will have a chance to step on the heels of Oshkosh in the valley league pennant race when it tackles Kaukauna in the latter's home park before a booster crowd Sunday afternoon. Oshkosh, in all probability, will be idle Sunday, because of inability to arrange for a park in which to play its scheduled game with Kimberly. The Oshkosh grandstand is being rebuilt and Kimberly has declined to permit a transfer of the game to the mill village.

Sunday's game will be the first meeting between Van Gotherm and Schultz. Van Gotherm lost his first start with Kaukauna and then went to Kimberly where he pitched a whale of a game but was defeated. He is said to be a sterling hurler, however. If Schultz will be as good Sunday as he was a week ago Kaukauna will find a real job awaiting it.

LASKER OPTIMISTIC ABOUT HIS NEW JOB
Shipping Board Head Expects to Change Liability Into a Real Asset.

Washington.—With a tangled maze of deficits and losses behind him, Albert D. Lasker, new chairman of the United States Shipping Board, today is looking hopefully ahead.

"Our task is to make what was a liability into an asset," Lasker said, after pointing out that the operations of the Shipping Board during the last fiscal year resulted in a flat loss of more than $200,000,000 to the taxpayers.

Three tasks which Lasker and his associates must finish with the great dispatch are:

One.—To dispose of more than $300,000,000 in old claims against the Shipping Board, a hangover from the last administration.

Two.—To dispose of the fleet of 285 wooden ships, called absolutely useless by experts, which are eating up $45,000 a month for upkeep alone.

Three.—To put the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation on a business basis and, if possible, on a money-making basis.

In getting the board back on a business basis, Lasker plans to organize it along the same lines as any great corporation.

He will entrust the operations of the board to five vice presidents, all technical experts. Each vice president will choose his own staff. Each will be instructed to choose the fittest side, throwing politics to the winds.

"The president has inherited in the Shipping Board the most difficult business problem ever given to a president to work out. Every condition surrounding it was sick," Lasker said. "But the Shipping Board is not disheartened."

"With patience something can be done and out of this wreck a real American merchant marine will arise."

BUSINESSMEN MULCTED BY PHYSICAL MARVEL
Muncie, Ind.—Following the arrest at Chicago late Thursday of R. Leondias Wanger, charged with using the mails to defraud, it developed today that not less than twenty Muncie men, all of them prominent in business and social circles, had joined Wanger's physical culture class or gazed by him here. It is alleged that each contributed the sum of $20, to learn from him the secret of perfect health and how to develop into a physical Apollo.

Wanger, who is alleged to have worked in Muncie, Kokomo, Anderson and several other Indiana cities, is said to have sold to each of his pupils a set of "wonder balls," two spheres with a set of springs inside. By holding a ball in each hand and alternately squeezing and releasing the balls, together with a set of exercises which Wanger was to give in a series of lessons the pupil was to attain a perfect physique. He is said to have given one lesson to his class, collected $20 per man and then disappeared. Letters written to the alleged victims describing his physical culture course are said to be the foundation for the federal prosecution.

FRISCH LEADS RUN GETTERS

Frank Frisch

Frank Frisch is scoring most of the runs that are helping the New York Giants overtake the Pirates in the drive for the pennant.

The fleet footed infielder has scored over 70 runs and is leading the league. Rogers Hornsby is his closest rival.

He is also running a neck ahead of Max Carey of the Pirates for the league base stealing honors.

While this is a year of batting instead of base stealing and pitching the young Giant's record stands out. Frisch, who is a Fordham University boy, is a fine athlete. He can do the 100 yards in 10 seconds.

Right now he is one of the most valuable players in the National League. McGraw took him fresh from school a year ago.

In addition to his run-scoring and base-stealing assets he is a great fielder and hits around the .330 mark.

He is the most valuable player to his club in the league. McGraw could get a small fortune for him—but New York holds its stars instead of selling them.

U. S. GOLF TITLE GOES TO BARNES

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Jim Barnes, Pelham, N. Y., left here Saturday with the cup for the United States open golf championship tucked under his arm. With a score of 289 for 72 holes Barnes won back the championship for America.

Barnes finished nine strokes ahead of his nearest competitors, Walter Hagen and Fred McLeod who tied with 298 for second place. Chick Evans, amateur, made the 72 holes in 303 and Bobby Jones made 303 strokes taking fourth and fifth places respectively.

George Dundan the British star, was eighth with 305 while Jock Hutchison, American who won the British open golf championship finished far down the list with a total of 312.

President Harding presented the cup to Barnes.

GRAIN QUOTATIONS
SHOW SLIGHT FALL

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill. — Grain quotations dropped during the dull half day session on the Chicago board of trade Saturday. Trade was very light in wheat and a little local selling turned the market downward. Receipts continued large. The corn market was influenced chiefly by reports of favorable rains in western portions of the grain belt. There was little demand. Oats were sold freely by local traders. Provisions were irregular.

July wheat opened off 1/4 at $1.24 and closed off 2. Sept. wheat opened unchanged at $1.25 and closed off 2 1/2. Dec. opened unchanged at $1.27 1/2 and closed down 2.

July corn opened off 1/4 at 64 1/2 c and closed down 1/4. Sept. opened off 1/4 at 61 1/2 c and closed off 1/4. Dec. opened off 1/4 at 61 c and closed down 1/4.

July oats opened unchanged at 39 1/2 c and closed off 1/2. Sept. opened unchanged at 40 1/2 c and closed off 1/2. Dec. opened at 40 1/2 c and closed off 1/2. December opened at 43 1/2 c off 1/4 and closed down 1/4.

BOTH WEAR SAM BROWNS

Here is Stubby, official mascot of the A. E. F. just after General Pershing had decorated him as a wounded hero. Stubby, the property of J. Robert Conroy, engaged in 17 battles with the 26th Division. Notice that both the general and the mascot are wearing Sam Brown belts, which Pershing made a part of all officers' uniforms as soon as he became chief of staff.

SCIENCE TRYING TO CURE WOMAN THIEF

Medical Treatment Is to Be Given Woman in Hope of Saving Her.

Special to Post-Crescent
New York. — Following failure of the law, science will try to cure the burglar tendencies of Mrs. Fannie Liebowitz, third time offender.

Dr. E. H. Vaughan, called into conference by Judge Hayes, says the woman is a victim of hypothyroidism. Under an assumed name she is to be placed in a hospital for three months' experimental treatment. It is the first time such treatment ever has been administered to a person of so-called criminal tendencies.

Hypo-thyroidism causes a dulled mentality, due to the fact that there is insufficient secretion from the thyroid gland. If the amount of secretion is increased to normal, mentality or intelligence is stimulated, and the person begins to reason correctly and to distinguish between right and wrong.

Mrs. Liebowitz, mother of five children, at 36 has three times confessed to burglary. Yet her husband earns a good living for his family, and they are well provided for.

After doctors have restored Mrs. Liebowitz's thyroid gland to normal, she will be placed under conditions favorable to stealing. Unknown to herself, of course.

The way in which she reacts will determine the success of the experiment, which both the medical and legal world is watching with interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lutz and George Lutz left for Fox Lake Saturday afternoon, where they will spend several days camping. Mrs. Lutz has been at Fox Lake several days and will return with them.

MRS. LILLGE HURT
IN FALL FROM CAR

Aged Lady Suffers Broken Collar Bone When She Steps From Moving Car.

Mrs. F. A. Lillge, Sr., 66, suffered a broken collar bone, a bruise on the left side of her head and a severe shock, about 8:30 Friday evening when she stepped off a moving street car near Second and Story-sts. She was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital, where she is reported to be resting comfortably.

Mrs. Lillge was on a westbound street car, bound for her apartment on Story-st. She went to the rear platform to alight at the corner of Second and Story-sts. Apparently she thought her corner had been reached and stepped to the pavement, forgetting that the car was in motion. She fell to the road, one of her shoulders striking the pavement. Residents of the neighborhood picked her up and summoned an ambulance to take her to the hospital.

The point at which Mrs. Lillge fell was at about the middle of the block. The car had just left a switch and was moving slowly. She had asked the motorman to stop at Story-st. He complied and then looked to see if the woman had alighted, but she was nowhere in sight.

lsh Lutheran church arrived from Manitowish Saturday morning and workmen are hurrying to install them before Sunday. This makes it possible to hold the dedicatory services Sunday morning, afternoon and evening as planned.

Police Magazine.

Copies of "Main 13," new magazine of the Chicago police department, have been received by George T. Prim, chief of police. The publication has about 20 pages containing items of interest about Chicago policemen and department activities, and also has a few short stories. Jack Laft, noted Chicago newspaper writer, is the editor. The magazine derives its name from the telephone number of the Chicago department.

Fill Silos Soon.

Silo filling will be begun within three weeks. Farmers are placing their filling machines in place and making other preparations. Some of this year's corn is going too much to the stalk, leaving only scrawny ears. Tops of the stalks are drying off in many cases also. Fields in which this condition is prevalent will be cut early.

Glen Bowen, instructor in golf at Riverview Country club has submitted to an operation for appendicitis at Theda Clark hospital.

George Getschow and family of Chicago are occupying their cottage at the Willows.

The family of A. E. Heidemann which left for the east a month ago is at present in New York and may decide to make that city its permanent home.

LIVESTOCK DIRECTORY

WILL HAVE MORE NAMES

George Davies, secretary of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders association, Madison, spent Friday in the county compiling a complete list of breeders for the next directory. He was escorted to the farms of Holstein and Guernsey dairymen by Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the First National bank.

Mr. Davies previously had a list of 20 breeders in Outagamie-co., making the county look like one of the unimportant ones. When he had visited in several directions he found out how erroneous these figures were, and now has this county listed as the home of 130 big breeders of the state.

NEW CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED SUNDAY

The special dedicatory services for the new Mount Olive English Evangelical Lutheran church to be held Sunday will be preceded by a short valedictory service to be held at 10:15 in the morning in Bushey Business college. Following this service the congregation will march in a body to the new edifice where a special sermon will be preached.

Members of the Ladies Aid society will serve a dinner in the basement of the church. At 2:30 a sermon will be delivered by the Rev. W. Kansier of Reedsburg. Special music will be played by the Lyra orchestra of Kaukauna, under the direction of A. Mills. The new "Wagner-Weickhardt" organ is to be dedicated at 7:30 in the evening. Prof. W. Herrmann of Chicago, Ill., will preach the sermon after which Prof. A. Bergman of Concordia college, Milwaukee, will present an organ recital.
